Marla Moss has 29 years of experience resolving business disputes. She handles complex commercial litigation, fraud, employment discrimination, real estate, environmental & professional malpractice cases. She has acted as facilitator for many complex matters, successfully bringing together stakeholders with diverse interests. In addition to private mediations, she acts as a court appointed mediator for the civil roster in the NJ Superior Court. Ms. Moss has resolved hundreds of business disputes, including numerous multi-million dollar complex commercial matters. She is a graduate of the Harvard Law School Program on Negotiation. She is a Director/Chair Elect with the Dispute Resolution Section of the NJ Bar Assn and has served in a leadership role in the mediation community for many years. Ms. Moss was an Adjunct Professor of Environmental Law in the doctoral program for Environmental Management at Montclair State University. Her background includes serving for 8 years as outside General Counsel to a group of closely held specialty chemical companies and serving on the board as counsel to the NJ Group of Small Chemical Businesses.
